Hello Thomas & Ronald,

I trust this email finds you well!

Here's a quick peek into the impact MicroGenesis has made towards the Kutumba Education Sponsorship Programme. Your contribution has enabled us to enroll 50 students from Grades 1 to 10 in partner-schools for this academic year. Our partner-schools are private institutions committed to extending education to low-income groups.

Students enrolled in our programme come from low-income and in some cases fragmented families where they struggle to make ends meet. Your generous donation has helped ease that burden on the families and further ensured that their child stays in school.

About the programme

Along with financial support to cover tuition fees, our programme also provides training and workshops to enhance their knowledge, develop soft-skills, build self confidence, as well as social skills that build lasting friendships.

Team Kutumba meets with every family once a quarter during which the child's progress is assessed and discussed with the parents. Additionally, any concerns or needs of the family are address too. These interventions are provided either through partner organisations for skill based training or medical interventions. We also support the child and their families through our other programmes that include nutrition, counselling, and training services.

Going forward

Our desire is to keep you updated with news of the children under your sponsorship.

We are truly inspired when donors, like you, give so generously. We couldn't do this work without you - thank you!

If you would like to know more about what we do and how you or your team can get involved, do reach out to me.

Have a great weekend!

Warm regards,

Esther D'Monte
